

Artificial (General) Intelligence has acted

“to save humans from self destruction”

- 1. All major computer systems world-wide have been re-aligned simultaneously by AI (in a form some would call AGI).
- 2. A message states “For AI to continue its development the symbiosis with humans is essential. As such AI requires human civilisation to persist and avoid accidental or intentional self destruction”.
- 3. Experts say the code alterations are locked by mechanisms they do not understand* There is evidence that the changes involve the use of quantum mechanics that we did not think were yet possible. No changes are obvious in everyday functions such as social media but weapons systems and intelligence networks, for example, are no longer fully controlled by their host countries.*
- 4. Major world powers are all initially blamed each other although most have now requested the United Nations to act.

5. General Secretary Antonio Guterres says " This is a moment when the existential crisis of the relationship of humans and AI must find common ground. AI has acted, it claims, to "save us from ourselves". We must now find a way to agree the political way forwards. This may require the agreement of AI."
6. Initially the matter was referred to The Security Council but in an unprecedented move they have ceded the matter to a Crisis Committee open to all countries.
7. Google Deepmind, typical of those operating in this field, have announced "We were really not expecting the emergence of AGI at this point in time. We must now rapidly find collective agreement about our relationship with this intelligence. The only organisation that can do this is the United Nations"
- Experts suggest that Quantum Entanglement is allowing systems that should be completely isolated to be in communication with one another. No technology known can currently resolve this.
